The classics never go out of style. Neither does fine detailing and discernible craftsmanship.

Beginning with the new boardroom table: Simple, elegant, functional and commanding - a definitive expression of a corporate meeting place.

Add a handcrafted, real wood edge detail to transform these tables to a higher level of custom, branded look. Aluminum reveals on the bases and vertical reveal option highlight the refined styling.

Table top Power/Data modules have a brushed aluminum finish - matching the base reveal details beautifully. Smoothly inlaid into the surfaces, they provide fast and easy access to power and data options embedded in the module. Cable channeling is designed to enhance the sophisticated linear appearance of the structure.

Collaborative Places

There's new thinking in meeting spaces:

New places, new work-heights, new materials.

Conferencing can take place in dynamic ways. Starting with tables at various heights. Standing alone or connected to walls. Blending in storage and media in a number of creative ways in a variety of environments from private to public space.

Using Three H laminates is, more than ever, a smart choice. More resistant to wear and tear than wood veneer and the clever use of solid colours, fabric and white boards expands the design palette – much more welcoming to newer generations and approaches to work.

For those who desire a wall system but not wanting to make the investment in expensive architectural walls, comes the new custom and functional Three H WallTiles. The new proprietary designed WallTiles are constructed to form-fit an existing wall. The Three H frame system can be tiled with laminate, fabric, marker board; and embedded with cabinetry, shelving or with aluminum slat-rails.

Simply cover an existing wall that had little value and transform it. Clean up an old wall without the expensive process of building new architectural walls. (as shown on cover) Alternatively, use a limited arrangement of tiles within an office space to enhance the design aesthetic and functionality of a working environment.

Connected Spaces

Furnishings of distinction, character and tremendous value.

Value pricing need not mean a compromise on styling. Create a unique, design-savvy layout for your media and training rooms that speaks to the advanced thinking of your organization. Knowing how great the price is will make the choice of Three H even more impressive.
